

Famous Virus Stories of Christmas Past

“A Christmas Coronavirus”:

A crotchety old man discovers that it is better to give than receive (viruses that is)

“Gift of the Myoviridae”:

A young couple exchange the most intimate gift of all - viral infection

“It’s a Wonderful Lentivirus”:

An unhappy man finds that the greatest things in life are free - like viruses

“Twas the Night Before
Calicivirus”:

Santa isn’t the only thing sneaking into the house this winter!

“How the Geminivirus
Stole Christmas”:

A lonely and bitter virus discovers the true joy of spreading a Christmas infection

“Frosty the Sindbis Virus”:

A magical story about a nucleoprotein complex that briefly comes alive

“Rudolph the Rednose
Rotavirus”:

An outcast rotavirus discovers that sometimes even mutants can save the day

“A Cytomegalovirus Story”:

A young boy’s quest for his ideal Christmas present is seemingly thwarted by everyone around him (“you’ll get an eye infection”)